

SOME WORK DONE AT THE ASSEMBLY

PRESBYTERIAN DIVINES TALK SUNDAY.

Four Services Held at Eagle Lake—
New York Mission Building Matter to Be Discussed Today—Baptists
Need More Money—American Tract
Society in Session.

Eagle Lake, Ind., May 24.—The Presbyterian general assembly commissioners welcomed the day of rest. Every pulpit in Warsaw, of whatever denomination, was filled morning and afternoon by Presbyterian clergymen, and some of the ministers went so far as Indianapolis and Chicago in response to invitations from churches.

On the grounds four services attracted large congregations. The beginning of the day's devotional exercises was the Sunday school service at 9:30 o'clock, when the Rev. Dr. James A. Worden, of Philadelphia, expounded the Westminster lesson, and drew from it the spirit of the whole system of Presbyterianism.

The moderator of the assembly, the Rev. Dr. Sheldon Jackson, conducted the meeting service at 10:30 o'clock, but, instead of preaching a sermon of doctrine or expounding a text, he chose to discuss the Alaskan field of missions. He aroused great interest by his presentation of the subject.

In the afternoon a popular meeting was held in the Auditorium in the interest of Sunday observance, under the auspices of the American Sunday Union. At night an evangelist, the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, conducted a young people's meeting and closed the day's services.

Saturday was a lively day in the assembly. When Thomas McDougall gave his minority report to the assembly recommending the sale of the big mission building in New York none of his fellow committeemen was ready for a detailed answer. The speeches of ex-President Harrison and Samuel B. Huey, of Philadelphia, were strong appeals, but they did not finish the matter. John Wamaker thought it over and made his speech in support of the majority of the committee, recommending that things be left in the hands of the mission boards, to be administered according to their best judgment. The matter was a special order for 11:30 o'clock, and again for the afternoon session, and the end was not in sight when the day closed. Speeches were made, after Mr. Wamaker finished, by Dr. S. C. Logan, of Scranton, Pa.; Dr. J. G. Bolton, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Henry P. Bake, of Spencerport, N. Y., all of whom announced that they had amendments to propose to the majority report.

The report of the standing committee on ministerial relief was presented by James A. Mount, governor of Indiana, a lay commissioner. After reviewing the work of the year the committee recommended a rule by which legacies will be expended for current work instead of being invested in a permanent fund. The selection of Dr. Benjamin L. Agnew, of Philadelphia, as secretary of the board was approved.

The statistical features of the report follow: "The receipts last year were $160,856 and the expenditures $182,204. While the permanent fund is now large, amounting to $1,551,783, it was still the judgment of the board that it should be very largely increased. Since the centennial fund was raised in 1888 the collections from the churches and Sabbath schools had been gradually falling off. In 1887-88 they raised $98,922, and in 1896-97 only $74,091, a decrease of $24,831 in nine years. The showing was all the worse, since in 1888 there reported but 722,671 communicants, and in 1896 there were 943,716. While the church was more than one-fourth larger than nine years ago, the collections were more than one-fourth less. And what made the showing appear still worse was that in 1888 but 564 families were under the care of the board, and last year they had 835. The average gifts of communicants had fallen from 13 cents to about 7½ cents each. The entire cash receipts from all sources, including interest, were $197,995, a little less than 4 per cent of the sum being used for the expenses of administration. The board was compelled to report an indebtedness of $29,911 due to the permanent fund."

NEED $36,000 MORE.

Failing to Raise That Sum Baptists May Lose Mr. Rockefeller's Donation.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 24.—The first session of the commission on systematic Christian beneficence of the Baptist church met Saturday. The Rev. H. C. Marble read the report of the money pledged to make available the gift of $250,000 of John D. Rockefeller. He said: "Last December the first step to meet the great debt was taken. Seventy-three thousand converts were baptized during the four years when this debt was contracted. At that meeting in December it was settled that New England could at once raise $75,000. This was two months before Mr. Rockefeller made his magnificent offer. He inquired how much would be needed to pay the debts. He was told $200,000, and he raised it to $250,000. We must raise $236,000 in addition to this. In addition to this gift, Mr. Rockefeller gave last Christmas $20,000 each to two societies. In the list of contributions thirty-nine states are represented, and the amounts named are actually pledged or paid. The total is $199,998.05."

American Tract Society.
New York, May 24.—The seventy-second anniversary of the establishment of the American Tract society was celebrated Sunday with religious ceremonies in the Broadway tabernacle. A report was read by the Rev. G. L. Shearer, showing the work of the society for the year. Cash grants to foreign missions of evangelical churches for the year total less than $800. During the year 180 colporters working in thirty-two states and territories and Ontario and Manitoba made 135,065 family visits and found 9,650 Protestant families without the bible.

Show a Heavy Deficit.
New York, May 24.—The American Baptist Missionary society is in hard straits, with a deficit in the home and foreign departments of about $225,000. At today's session of the May anniversary here a report will be presented that unless larger contributions than usual are made it will be necessary to drop much of the work now being done, including the abandonment of a number of foreign mission stations.

Women May Not Preach.
Charlotte, N. C., May 24.—The committee on bills and overtures of the southern Presbyterian assembly recommended that women be forbidden the use of pulpits for public addresses to mixed audiences, and that it be pronounced improper to give notices of such meetings. This precipitated a lively debate.

Weyler's New Order Is Out.
Sufferings of Pacifics in Cuba to Increase.
Washington, May 24.—A consular report from Cuba tells of a new order of concentration. The effect of it will be to add greatly to the horrors of the situation. The suffering will be increased, and the deaths will be more numerous.

The order, so far as the consul knows, applies to about one-third of the province of Santa Clara. This is a region of sugar estates. Under the original order of concentration the agricultural population was obliged to form camps at the centrals, or grinding plants, of such estates as maintained a Spanish garrison. This permitted the farming population to gather in bodies of from 500 to 1,000. By this distribution in small bodies the reconcentrados were able to find some subsistence.

The smaller concentration has been attended with less hardship than the larger. The new order just made by the Spanish authorities abolishes the concentration camps on the sugar estates. It directs that the only points of concentration in the district shall be the cities having municipal organizations. In this district there are but three "municipals," as they are called. To these three points the entire farming population will now be driven.

WORK OF CONGRESS IS PLANNED OUT

THE LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM FOR THE WEEK.

The Senate Will Take Up the Tariff Bill, and Mr. Aldrich is To Urge All Republicans to Support the Measure—Democratic Opposition to the Schedules—Washington News.

Washington, May 24.—Tuesday, the week and a day after the beginning of the session, the senate will take up the tariff bill, for the passage of which the session was especially called. The bill was to have been called up today, but the death of Senator Earle of South Carolina will render necessary an adjournment for a day. Senator Aldrich will call up the bill, move its consideration and make a speech in its support. The Democratic amendment striking out the internal revenue features of the bill will be introduced by Senator Vest. The motion may lead to immediate debate, and, in case exception is taken to it, the Missouri senator will be heard from. The silver Republicans and Populists will seek opportunity during the pendency of the bill to present some remarks of a political nature, and some of them may be heard during the week. There will undoubtedly be strong opposition to some of the schedules on the part of Republican senators, and amendment will be firmly pressed. Some of these amendments will be offered to the chemical schedule, the first of the list, and they will probably be reached during the present week.

In reply to a question Mr. Aldrich, who will have charge of the bill on behalf of the Republican side of the senate, said that when the bill was once taken up he would press consideration to the exclusion of all other business except conference reports until it should be finally disposed of. The conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill probably will be considered some time during the week. The conference committee has practically agreed upon a compromise upon the forestry reservation provision which it hopes will prove satisfactory to all parties.

WRECKED BY THE PRESIDENT.
Reports Received at Washington on the Logansport Failure.
Washington, May 24.—Reports received at the treasury department tend to show that the failure of the State National bank at Logansport, Ind., was caused by the dishonesty of John F. Johnson, the president of the institution, who, it is claimed, appropriated not only the capital stock of the bank, $200,000, but also the undivided profits, amounting to $100,000 more, and falsified the records so that the extent of his peculations cannot be determined at present. The bank examiner in charge believes that $100,000 can be realized for the benefit of the creditors from the sale of property which Johnson has surrendered. The directors of the bank do not seem to have taken any interest in the management, but permitted the president to conduct the business to suit himself. The liability on deposits is reported at $300,000, but an examination is necessary to determine whether an assessment will be made on the capital stock.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—John F. Johnson, the wrecker of the State National bank of Logansport, was brought here Sunday morning, and now occupies a cell at the jail. Johnson will plead guilty to some of the charges against him, but others he will fight. Commissioner Funk says that if the Logansport bank is promptly reorganized it will be able to pay out.

Young Boy Hangs Himself.
Camden, N. J., May 24.—William R. Ross, the fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ross, of Stockton, this county, committed suicide Sunday by hanging himself. The boy was in good spirits when his parents started to church. On their return they found him hanging, lifeless. He was addicted to the use of cigarettes, for which he could not break off the habit, and in despair took his life.

Equal Suffragists to Meet.
Waukegan, Ill., May 24.—The officers, delegates, members and friends of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association will meet at the courthouse in this city next Thursday and Friday for the organization's twenty-fourth annual convention. An unusually brilliant gathering of equal suffragists is expected, and the programme is so arranged as to give all who wish a chance to be heard.

Large Coal Fields Discovered.
Washington, May 24.—The discovery of one of the largest coal fields in the world is reported to the state department by the United States consul at Cartagena, Colombia. The fields are in the department of Bolivar in Colombia, eight to twelve miles from the Bay of Cispatí, and forty-eight miles from Cartagena. The coal is semi-anthracite and anthracite and is good steam coal. The fields contain about 300,000,000 tons, and comprises 215,000 acres.

Rockefeller to Keep Sunday.
Cleveland, Ohio, May 24.—It is announced that John D. Rockefeller has issued an edict against Sunday labor by the men employed on his ore docks on the upper and lower lakes. While the men are expected to respond to calls to load or unload vessels at any hour of the day or night, they will not be asked to work between midnight Saturday and midnight Sunday.

Another Attack on Armenians.
London, May 24.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Constantinople says serious outbreaks against the Armenians have occurred in a village near Van and at Ineboli, a seaport of Asia Minor. The Russian consul at Ineboli has telegraphed to the government to send a war ship.

Order of B'Nai B'rith.
Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—The annual meeting of District Grand Lodge No. 2, Order of B'Nai B'rith, began its sessions here Sunday. The district is composed of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and New Mexico, and forty-five lodges are represented.

Senator Morrill Greatly Improved.
Washington, May 24.—Senator Morrill, who has been confined to his bed for some days with an attack of bronchitis, was reported to be very much better, but it is not probable that he will be able to attend the sessions of the senate for some days.

His head struck the floor and he became unconscious. He sustained a concussion of the brain, possibly a fracture of the skull. Leon, the referee, Jimmy Carroll; J. E. Kennedy, manager of the National Athletic Club, at which the contest was held, the timekeeper and seconds were arrested. Leon was released on $1,000 bail for examination. The others also gave bail.

To Ask Labor Legislation.
Des Moines, May 24.—The third annual convention of the Iowa State Federation of Labor is in session here. It is composed of such labor organizations as see fit to adopt its constitution. One delegate is allowed each union and each trades' assembly has three. The principal object of the federation is to secure legislation favorable to the laboring people. A strong effort will be made at the coming convention to formulate plans to secure legislation from the next general assembly, which will meet next winter. The federation has intended to keep out of politics and will enter the arena this fall only to favor the election of legislative candidates who will support its demands.

LEADING THOUGHTS FROM JANESVILLE SERMONS.

Rev. A.H. Barrington of Christ Church, Talks of "Liberalism and Liberty"—
Rev. Mr. Sherwin of Allen Grove, at Court Street Church—In the Other Sanctuaries.

Rev. Mr. Barrington, of Christ church, spoke last evening, on "Liberty and Liberalism." He took for his text "If the Son Shall Make You Free; Ye Shall Be Free Indeed." He made the point that while man is free, his liberty is limited. Being a free moral agent he is not compelled to serve God, in a life of righteousness, but he is not free to trample on the rights of others. If he ignores his responsibilities he must suffer the consequences of a life mis-spent.

Liberalism is ignoring all compulsion and all authority with the underlying idea of the abrogation of all law. In the state this is called anarchy, and we know what mischief the anarchist have done in this land of liberty. Will not the same ideas and the same thought work harm in the church.

The natural tendency of man is towards evil. In point of fact there are but two kingdoms in the world—the kingdom of Christ and the kingdom of Satan—the kingdom of good and the kingdom of evil, and man must belong to one or the other. He thinks himself free, but sooner or later he wakes to the fact that he is the slave of Satan.

"There is no freedom for him apart from Christ." (Text) This freedom is obtained through the church, not by means of its outward form but inward grace.

A man can not be good in a moment but he can turn from sin at once, and gradually develop that holiness which is from above.

He cannot reform himself. Alone he cannot become good enough to enter the church, else would Christ never have suffered for him. He comes in his sins, that Christ may cleanse him and set him free.

Many think religion merely teaches them how to die; it most decidedly teaches them how to live, and the Lord pleads with them to live Godly and righteously in the present world, and offers them his help so to do.

There fore, we should away with these ideas of liberalism which tend to confirm one in his sins, and seek the liberty of the Son of God through Christ Jesus our Lord.

The Court Street M. E. Church.

Rev. Mr. Sherwin of Allen Grove, officiated at Court Street church yesterday. His morning topic was from scripture in Romans, "Now if any man have not the spirit of Christ, he is none of His."

The speaker said that the carnal mind is full of sin of every nature, and at enmity with God. Justified by faith, we have peace with God. "Free from the law of sin and death, possessing a new heart, nature puts on a new aspect. Letting God have his way with us, we learn to walk with God, a test of discipleship expressed in the text.

All men have a written or unwritten creed, but more than a creed is necessary to salvation. The church itself as an organization, can not save us. Many people use the church as a cloak, influenced by policy, business, of social consideration.

Some people depend on the church for salvation. They are willing to sacrifice dress and be counted peculiar, but piety means more than this. We live today in a brighter dispensation, and possess a title to an enduring inheritance. "I go to prepare a place for you." "Tarry ye at Jerusalem until ye be endowed with power from on high." "We shall see Him for we shall see Him as He is."

One of the fruits of the spirit is the kind of humanity that John the Baptist possessed on the Isle of Patmos; not self dependence but self reliance as possessed by Paul; dignified gentleness as displayed in the life of Christ, full of courage and strength, but gentle as a woman.

The spirit of Christ holds us steady in the hour of trial. It is also a forgiving spirit. "It suffers long and is kind." It helps us to suffer God's will and to do his will. The spirit of Christ is helpful in every department of life. Let us all seek and obtain it. The church at Allens Grove is fortunate in having Mr. Sherwin for a pastor.

At All Souls Church

At All Souls, The People's church Rev. Victor E. Southworth spoke yesterday on "The Possibilities of Friendship."

The kind of friendship that I am speaking of is that which "has severest virtue for its basis."

"Most friendship is feigning." We think we meet a hundred who are our friends. But time tells a different story, and those whose protestations of loyalty were loudest are found skimming from you when the selfish interest which they had in you is no longer satisfied.

One has only to wait and he finds who can be depended upon. The real friendship endures and the selfish pretence is in time found out. And one must have patience in this matter. Over-hasty friends to whom we cling impulsively are almost always a disappointment. The friendships of youth are too vehement to last, and their very ardor consumes them. Nothing calls for so much steadiness of judgment and cautious reserve as the forming of one's friendships.

It requires a ripened nature to command or to bestow the highest affection. There is probably no relation of life that calls for more real delicacy, more good sense and more sincerity. And what makes most attempts at friendship fail so quickly is because people do not deeply enough discern the obligations which are involved.

We must remember that genuine friendship is not a mere caprice—it is not fancy or accident upon which it rests. Friendship grows up between natures which are strong enough to command each others veneration. There is no such thing as strong friendship for weak natures. Among the less highly cultivated there exists many careless and loose attachments. They have many friends who come and go. Their demand upon one another is superficial and largely sensuous, so that the friendship takes but little hold upon the deeper nature. Such people have many associates, easily formed and easily lost, whom they call "friends." But the higher in the scale of mental and moral development you rise, the more difficult it becomes to find in another those qualities which have power over you and to which your nature can freely respond.

Those who have experienced the joy of an exalted friendship no longer have a taste for cheap attachments. The developed mind wants fewer friends; but its requirements are vastly more difficult to satisfy; its friends must be of the best. And the reciprocity must be generous. What you expect you must be prepared to give. If you want the best friends you must be of the best yourself. The laws of friendship are infinitely exacting and mercilessly severe. No one can love you or trust you unless you yourself inspire and continue to inspire their veneration and confidence. When you have lost a friend, do not accuse him of fickleness or ingratitude; but inquire how it was you lost your hold on him. Those who have enjoyed with each other this supreme blessing of life and who above all desire to perpetuate their friendship must say, "unless we hold to our highest we shall lose each other." Remember the fascination must be mutual, and if you care to retain your friend he must find the old charm fresh and strong.

There can be no concealment or subterfuge between friends. If there be any trick it is soon discovered—you betray yourself before you know it. Your friend insists and has a right to insist upon your best at all times.

"His soul thine own will know at sight With him thy heart must speak outright Greet him nobly, love him well, Show him where your best thoughts dwell, Trust him greatly and for aye."

Only thus will a true friend stay."

The Congregational Church.

At the Congregational church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. Robert C. Denison, spoke on Psalm 29:3, "The Voice of the Lord Upon the Waters." Those who know the sea cannot have failed to observe it in a strange and wonderful analogy in human life. The sea is like life in its mystery. We see a little of it, but what is beyond? What are the secrets of its depths? So of life. Whence does it come? What is in the mysterious beyond? And the sea is like life in its changing moods. Today it is calm, blue and gentle; tomorrow, cold green, cruel, and so of life. Who has not known those moments when life seemed hard, bitter, pitiless and the thing we desired most we could not do?

Then the sea is like human life in the strange mixture of obedience and contempt with which it treats men. When we see the great dykes with which he shuts back the sea and the great iron ships with which he bids its storms defiance, we know that man conquers even the sea. But when the storm drives some vessel on the rocks we realize that there is in the sea a power which man cannot control. And so of life when we see a man conquer adverse circumstances we say see how man manages life. But when some great power breaks up all our plans, when we see man sink and fail in spite of all his struggles we know life is something man cannot control.

The sublime truth at which the psalmist had arrived was that over all this mysterious changing thing we call life, is God. He is the explanation of its mystery. One unmistakable sign of the voice of God upon the waters is the continual restlessness of men. The world often longs for perfect rest but it never gets it. And why should we expect peace? Are the conditions of present life such that we have no desire to improve them. A man who cares not for the truth nor for men can not rest satisfied with our present life full, as it is, of irreligion and immortality but God cannot. He will be continually sending us new ideas and new theologies. He will be continually overturning our traditions until men shall be changed in character. He will not be satisfied with a new tariff or financial law but will disturb and disturb until men are true at heart.

When God brings in a new idea He

HORSE STORY FAKE NOW MADE CLEAR

WAR DEPARTMENT AUTHORIZES A DENIAL.

H. D. McKinney Did Not Purchase an Animal for General Doe, the Trouble Being a Mistake in Charging the Item to the Wrong Appropriation.

The story telegraphed from Washington concerning the horse said to have been bought for General Doe, by H. D. McKinney, was without foundation.

A Washington dispatch says: "The war department officials authorize a denial of the published statement that the accounting officers of the treasurer have thrown out a voucher for horses purchased in Chicago for the private use of General Doe while the latter was assistant secretary of war. It is said the horses were purchased in Chicago for the use of the war department and that they have been and are now used by the department. Such trouble as arose over the vouchers was because the latter was erroneously charged to the wrong appropriation. As soon as this reference is corrected the account will be allowed."

STATE REGRETS HIS STEP.

The Standard Speaks of Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge's Resignation

The Standard, the leading Baptist publication of the country, has this article in its Wisconsin department: "The first pastorate of Dr. Hodge of Janesville, began Feb. 4 1865 and continued six years. The first year of this pastorate a church edifice was built at a cost of $40,000. Jan. 13, 1884, in the third year of the present pastorate, the church edifice burned and the present building was erected in its place. Dr. Hodge has had the privilege of welcoming into the fellowship of the Janesville church 672 persons, of whom 352 were by baptism, and 399 times he has pronounced the solemn words which made two lives one. As has been announced already in The Standard this remarkable pastorate is soon to close. It is not simply the Janesville church and community which regret this step, but it is the entire state of Wisconsin in which Dr. Hodge has given the best years of his life not only as pastor at Beaver Dam, Milwaukee and Janesville, but as eight years president of the state convention and many years chairman of the board. His conservative aggressiveness and unselfish interest in the mission work of the state has been a constant benediction. His sermons and addresses at annual gatherings always fresh and inspiring have made lasting impressions. His kind words can never die, and his large circle of Wisconsin friends breathe a prayer that a kind Providence will permit him to remain with us many years. He leaves a church free from debt and in good condition to welcome the right man as his successor."

A PLETHORA OF MONEY.

Our democratic friends are trying hard these days to harmonize reports of the large sums of money on deposit at commercial centers with the 1896 campaign cry of "we want more money."

The Chicago banks on May 14 had on deposit $137,576,470, a gain of $15,000,000 in a little over two months, and a gain of $28,000,000 since October 6, 1896.

This heavy increase was not due to a withdrawal of funds from business channels as is evidenced by statements of loans.

On May 14 they were $82,163,411 and on October 6, $84,075,334 or only about $2,000,000 less.

The average deposits held are 50 per cent, and in the case of individual banks, run as high as 75 per cent. The legal reserve is 25 per cent.

In New York last week the Third National bank decided to go out of business, turning over its assets and liability to the National City bank.

The reason assigned and undoubtedly the correct one, for this step, was the inability of the Third National to loan more than $7,500,000 of the $12,000,000 it had on deposit.

The large margin of surplus that was forced into idleness wiped out the profits.

Country balances in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, and Boston are allowed only 1 1/2 per cent. interest, while it is difficult for the banks to employ the funds at 3 1/2 per cent.

Governor Scofield wants no misunderstanding about any state institution. Waukesha democrats took up the case of a discharged reform school employee and demanded an investigation.

The governor ordered inquiry begun at once, acting with so much promptness that the agitators lost all their anxiety. They begin to suspect that a subordinate's belief in his own importance has led them into a ridiculous position.

If Mr. Chapman, the New York stock broker, who has gone to jail in Washington for refusing to answer questions asked by senators who investigated the sugar scandal connected with the passage of the Wilson tariff bill by the democrats, is as smart as brokers usually are he will utilize in some profitable way the enormous lot of free advertising he is getting.

It is significant that all the utopian plans for making money easier to get originate with men who have failed in everything they have undertaken. There are no honest ways of getting money without given value in return for it.

The entire '96 tobacco crop of the Nashville region has been bought by the Italian government. Why the leaf is wanted is hard to say, as Italian cigars are made wholly of marsh grass flavored with licorice.

President McKinley's head is as level on the Cuban question as it is upon others of importance. He has no idea of being stampeded into doing something that may be regretted.

If Spain has no better security than Cuba to offer to the new forty million dollar loan she is trying to negotiate, it is not likely that the cash will be forthcoming.

Every republican in congress will be found voting for that tariff bill when it has been finally completed, and there will also be other votes cast for it.

The country is with President McKinley and congress in the efforts to look after the welfare of American citizens in Cuba.

The on-the-fence democratic senators are trying to steer the silver democrats up against a bunco tariff game.

SAYS HE FOUND THE WATCH

Ben Kutscheld Denies That He Stole Norton's Timepiece.

Benjamin Kutscheld, who is charged with stealing a watch and fourteen dollars in money on May 8, of I. N. Norton at Bahr's Hotel, appeared in the municipal court this morning. He pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock he will appear for trial and attorneys Smith & Pease will defend him. Mr. Kutscheld says that he did not steal the time piece, but that he found it in near Bahr's hotel.

Four young men from Woodstock, who gave their names as M. B. Welch, E. A. Boyce, C. Santry and C. Wallace, arrived in town early yesterday morning for the purpose, as they said, of "having a high old time."

At 7 o'clock they went up Milwaukee street, each singing a different song. Officer John Brown met them, and three of the party, who insisted that they would "see the town" in spite of the minion of the law, were taken in hand and landed in jail. The fourth party said he was satisfied with his disposition and wished to go home so he was allowed to meander.

Later the other three also repented, and they were allowed to go.

Frank Storm and Henry F. Burge both pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and each paid $8 and costs. William Peggs, who erred in the same manner and form, went to jail for a day.

Noted Swimmer Meets Death.

Stockton, Cal., May 24.—It is now believed that Charles Cavill, the noted Australian swimmer, was asphyxiated and not drowned. He had an inverted tub in the water which he used to deceive the public in his exhibitions of remaining under the surface several minutes. The water in the Stockton baths where Cavill was giving a performance comes from natural gas wells, and it is believed gas had accumulated in the tub, causing his death. Examination shows his lungs free from water.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effectual Cure for It

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing; headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach.

To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Distaso, Ascorbic Persin, a little Nux. Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Booher, of 2710 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge, instead of passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

Send for little book, mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

Dress For the Growing Girl.

"The growing girl is perhaps the hardest of all to cater to in the matter of dress," writes Carolyn Merion in Woman's Home Companion. "She is neither the little girl nor the young lady, and unless she has grown up tall and willowy, with a certain style of her own, she usually is inclined to have no shape at all, with her waist line coming dangerously near her armpits. The slender girl may wear big plaids, checks and heavy, rough effects, while her sister, inclined to stoutness, must content herself with stripes and plain, smooth surface effects. It is much easier to gown becomingly the slightly proportioned girl than the stout one, and, paradoxical as it may sound, the stout girl has more need of fluff effects in her gown than her slim sister."

"While there seems to be very little that is new and original in children's clothes, yet they keep the pace with fashion and take on smart style quite consistent with the age and season. Skirts with straight, full breadths and no gorges at all are not quite so popular as they were, but are still worn by very small girls and are employed in making up the new large plaids for older girls."

"Plaid silks and wool materials are very much used for gowns for girls of all ages, and where the colors are quite striking are relieved by trimmings of black velvet ribbon or yoke and belt of plain cloth edged with braid. The finely mixed, light weight wool goods make good, serviceable spring dresses for everyday wear, and black braiding on bands and yokes of some bright, plain cloth is their usual trimming."

"The coming summer will see a greater variety of wash dresses for girls than we have had in a long time. Plain white and colored pique, also figured ones, will be much worn, and thin white materials combined with bright colored ribbons will be much affected by the children and misses, with sheer Persian lawn as one of the most popular on account of its wearing qualities. All thin and washable skirts, when the fabrics used are other than piques and holland linen, are made with full, straight breadth skirts, carrying the fullness well to the back, where it is gathered into the waistband."

The Fashionable Cashmere.

It is said that in her day the Empress Josephine wished a new, softly draping textile, extremely fine in weave and with a silky luster. The manufacturers made a study of her order, and the result was the invention of cashmere, beloved by Frenchwomen to this day, and just now favored by fashion everywhere. The material was said to be eminently suited to the perfect figure of the empress, at once Greek and creole, and it is still adopted where special effects in drapery are desired. A soft gray cashmere is particularly becoming to clear complexioned brunettes with color. Made up with a soft white silk vest and a little handsome silver and opal trimming, the complementary effect of the tint is greatly enhanced. The skin if not perfectly white looks much clearer in contrast with a soft gray tone and gives a much more youthful appearance to the wearer than any sort of a dull black gown possibly could, no matter how elegantly or elaborately trimmed.

Pink vests or other small accessories in pink often render a gray dress extremely becoming to either fair or dark women, and again a small amount of rich velvet and some handsome deep cream lace work a miracle on a somewhat trying gray toilet. Of course judgment must be exercised, and when the figure is large it is unwise to emphasize its outline by wearing light colors in any material whatsoever. Gray cashmere suits too easily to be considered useful wear by many, but with ordinary care this objection cannot be raised. It is less inclined to show marks than certain shades of green, mauve or blue. The new double faced cashmires are this spring made into extremely handsome gowns for both outdoor and indoor wear. Black, gray, green and ruby velvet ribbons are used upon dressy gray gowns, and lace insertions, gimps and accordion plaited chiffons on gray evening toilets.—New York Post.

The revival of the nightcap is taken very seriously in England, along with other early Victorian revivals. A cap of silk and lace, with ribbon bows, all in the shape of a half handkerchief and having a "curtain" behind, is said to be the most popular.

Some for ten, some for twenty years some for thirty years have suffered from piles and then have been quickly and permanently cured by using De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great remedy for piles and all forms of skin diseases. C. D. Stevens.

South Dakota in Springtime

Is clothed with verdure green and spotted with beautiful blue and white prairie flowers tokens of luxuriant soil like that fair country to which Moses led the children of Israel in ancient times.

And like unto that land of plenty, South Dakota outvalues its sister states of the east in the products of its soil sown, cultivated and harvested in less time and with greater ease than in any other portion of the United States.

And so we say unto you that now is the opportunity of a lifetime to "Go west and buy a farm." For descriptive lists and prices, address Geo. H. Heafford, G. P. A., Chicago, Ill.

Don't thin your blood with cassiafras or poison it with blue-mass; but aid nature by using De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for constipation, biliousness and stomach and liver troubles. They are purely vegetable. C. D. Stevens.

"They are dandies" said Thos. Bowers, of the Crockett, Texas, Enterprise, while writing about De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for sick headache and disorders of the stomach and liver. C. D. Stevens.

Dressing the Hair.

News comes from England that a revolution has begun there—a revolution in the arrangement of hair on the heads of fashionable women. Of course this is very important, and the report will receive serious attention in a country where all things English are either admired and copied or hated and shunned with fervid energy. Hints of the change have been current in London boudoirs for weeks, and already a few women, greatly daring, have displayed the new style in public. The innovation, as usual, is a revival and dates back not to 1830, that epoch of fashion, but to the years immediately preceding Queen Victoria's accession. Its salient features are a boldly upstanding loop or two of hair, brought decidedly forward, on the top of the head, while the arrangement behind tapers to a point an inch or so from the base of the skull. The novelty which renders it noticeable is the introduction of a scarf of soft silk gauze or lace twisted in and out of the coils of hair, which are usually gathered slightly more to one side of the head than the other, the balance being created with a puff or bow of the material.

Both hair and gauze or silk usually start from a diamond comb, placed low at the back of the head, and a special shape has been evolved for the purpose. The hair at the sides is very slightly waved, and a great reaction has set in against the "fluffed out" appearance which has been general of late. It may be added that the new mode tends to place those ladies to whom nature has not been kind in the gift of abundant tresses upon an equality with their more richly endowed sisters, as it is almost an impossibility to form the loops in front without the help of a postiche of false hair in which a spiral spring is adroitly concealed.—New York Times.

DR. ANNA MELVILLE, THE N. Y. SPECIALIST HAS OPENED AN OFFICE IN JANESVILLE AT 105 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

Dr. Melville has brought from New York every instrument and medicine known to science for the cure of chronic diseases, including the wonderful X-Ray machine, by which it is possible to look into the living body and learn the cause of disease which has baffled the ordinary methods.

If you wish to see your own bones Dr. Melville will show them to you. If you wish to see a bullet or a pin through a six-inch plank she can accommodate you. You do not believe it? People die every day, because, through their ignorance or prejudice, they refuse to believe that in the discoveries of modern science there is a way provided for them to be saved. They do not realize that the world moves, that science progresses, that diseases incurable yesterday by the old methods are curable today by the new.

If you are sick, discouraged and miserable, do not waste precious time, but go direct to the Specialist, who is provided with these instruments and knows how to use them.

X-RAY USED IN DIAGNOSIS.
 It is always accurate—never fails. The Doctor can see into every organ of the body. Consultation and examination is free to all who desire treatment, but no one will take offense if their case is declined, as under no circumstances will a case be undertaken that cannot be cured.

NOTICE.

This is an opportunity to secure at a price within your reach the expert services of a Celebrated New York Hospital Specialist, which you cannot receive in any other way except by an expensive trip to New York or some other large city. ## GIVES STRENGTH TO MEN

Free To All Who Are Weak And Worn

A METHOD TO CURE AND INCREASE THE POWER.

It is a remarkable fact that a man never appreciates the sufferings of others until he himself has passed through the fire of pain or remorse. Then it is that he looks around for those who are suffering; he wants them to profit by his experience; he gives his time and money gladly for the benefit of others and never tires of his zeal. There are plenty of men weak and worn out, struggling with remorse and fear, the natural outcome of habits that brought incapacity; a sense of loneliness and a feeling as if the best side of life had been banished forever. Such men should write to Thomas Slater, Box 494, Kalamazoo, Mich. He will send free by mail, in a plain, sealed envelope, full particulars about the method he used, and this will enable any man to get a complete cure at home. It is the method that Mr. Slater used to cure himself of the troubles that sap the strength and vigor and also enlarged his organs to a natural size. The cure was complete, so satisfying and such a wonderful change from his former condition that he will gladly tell others all about it, sending all particulars. He figures that he doesn't know of a better way to show his appreciation of his own cure and sufferings of others. There must be generous men in this world to offset the tide of avarice. Write to Mr. Slater—it will cost nothing for his description and method.

A Little More Cost Brings Big Profit..

The addressing, folding, inclosing, sealing and stamping of five thousand circulars, with postage, will cost at least $65, whether the circular is good or bad. Notwithstanding this fixed charge, some strive to save a dollar or two on the cost of printing, although the goods advertised are to be judged by the character of the printing, just as a house is judged by the character of its salesmen. Good printing costs but little more, and that "little more" brings greater returns than any other part of the cost. Order your printing where good work is assured.

MR. HARBERTON.

"No, old man, of course I don't believe in spirits or nonsense of that sort. Yet something that I never quite understood once happened to me. You all know about that kind of thing, and perhaps you can explain it."

"After I left Oxford—without honors—I spent a lot of time loafing at home. It was a slow part of the country, nothing much to shoot, and mother, an invalid, couldn't stir out of her room."

"I didn't mean deliberately to deceive her, but what life is there for a healthy young man, stuck down there, hanging round a sickroom from one month to another? He must come to the surface to breathe, whether the air be wholesome or not. At first, when I cut for a day or two, I would call it business, but the matter knew old Findlay had always managed the investments, and the money and all that. So when I took a run up to town and didn't return at night I had to invent a friend and to pretend I had put up with him. That came as easy as lying always does. Only mother, who had little to interest her, insisted on hearing all the particulars—how my friend looked, what he said and the rest. I got into a lot of tight places at the start, till I thought of a man I had known two years before and kept to a description of him."

"Harborton was his name. He was cruising on the Mediterranean for his health when I was on the Sayonara—believed in occultism and rot of that sort, and we all laughed at him for it. We never thought him ill, merely lazy. One moonless night after dining on his yacht we lounged on deck, with those myriads of stars making us feel jolly small."

"Harborton lay on a steamer chair—he used to pass the night there—gazing at the sky with his inscrutable eyes. We had all been laughing and chaffing when he came on deck. But somehow the immensity of it all had sobered us, and we were quiet and solemn, when Harborton, pointing heavenward, said in his languid, affected drawl, 'Tomorrow I shall know what these have to tell.' We believed it to be merely one of his poses, but in the morning we were horribly startled by the news that he was dead. He had died, lying there in his chair, during the night."

Well, Harborton's name occurred to me when I was forced to invent a story to satisfy mother, and, though I couldn't write a story to save my life, whenever I began jawing about him everything came quite pat. Often I blessed his memory when I could go off for a few days, have a good time and return to find mother quite pleased."

"This went on for awhile, till mother began to bother me with a request to ask 'my friend' to visit us at Frampton Glensford. I tried hard to get her off the notion. I said that he was busy or ill; that entertaining guests would hurt her, and all manner of things. But she seemed set upon it—talked nothing else. The doctor said it was a sick fancy; that in her weak state any craving must be humored."

"Thus cornered, I wrote a letter urging 'My dear Harborton'—I hadn't the remotest idea what his Christian name was—to come to us even for a day. Mother insisted upon adding a line—she who had not penned a word for months—begging him to come that she might have an opportunity of thanking him for his friendliness toward her son. I did feel mean when I took the invitation into another room and burned it."

"I would have given anything to have been able to produce an impostor. But Harborton had been described so minutely the matter knew him by heart, as it were, and would have detected a fraud at a glance. Besides, I have never seen any one who at all resembled him. I told her I had heard from him that he was coming. I dreaded she would ask to see his letter, but it chanced to be one of her bad days, and she didn't."

"Next morning he was to arrive. I meant to fake up a telegram somehow, giving an excuse for his absence when I went to the station on pretense of meeting him. My mother was strangely well that morning. Her customary lassitude and pain had vanished. She was reclining on a couch drawn close to the open window. Her cheeks were almost rosy, and there was a lace arrangement over her white hair that made her look prettier than I had ever seen her. She was all impatience to see Harborton and hurried me off to the station half an hour too soon."

"It was a lovely June day, and our private footpath to the railway lay through shady ways, but I was wretched and ashamed, wishing the thing over. The remembrance of the sparkle in mother's eyes, even of the effort she had made to appear in full toilet, disturbed me. Of her health the doctor had spoken gravely on the night before. With a heart affection such as hers might not the shock of Harborton's nonappearance be too much for her?"

"I suppose one ought to believe in Nemesis or retribution or that sort of thing. I don't much; but, I confess, that summer morning I came nearer suffering for my sins than I had ever done before or have ever done since."

"Now, you needn't believe what follows unless you like. I often doubt it myself. I knew something was to happen as I heard the sound of the coming engine, and as I watched the train sweep around the curve of the line I wanted badly to run away, but couldn't. Of course there are seldom many passengers for Glensford. This time there was but one. I caught a glimpse of his face at the window of a carriage where he sat alone, and my heart seemed to stop beating. A moment later he stood before me. It was Harborton. He was exactly as I remembered him. There was nothing in his appearance or manner to account for the dread in me. We exchanged greetings, but no word passed between us. We traversed the leafy lanes in a dream, but they and myself were visionary—he alone was real. And all the time the memory of the telegram I had omitted to send kept recurring to my half paralyzed brain."

"I knew it could not be Harborton, yet felt convinced it was none other. Dull wonder whether or not mother would see as I did ran through my mind, but I was in reality too stupefied to be capable of anything like consecutive thought."

"The path we trod led through the orchard into the rose garden, whereon the low windows of my mother's summer parlor opened. As we entered the garden she saw us—saw him—and waved her thin hand in welcome. And Harborton, or what I took to be Harborton, who till then had done nothing but make me dread his presence, waved in return courteously, almost gayly."

"I can tell you how that day passed. It seemed like a long drawn out nightmare. I kept saying to myself: 'I am asleep. I shall awake soon.' Harborton sat in my mother's cool, darkened room, talking of me, as I gathered while pacing restlessly within and without, or smoking in a chair outside the window. She seemed to speak anxiously about my future—I suppose, like most only sons reared by mothers, I had been rather wild—and he appeared to reassure her. She was quite soothed and happy in his company. I moved about. I would go to the stables to speak to the men or wander aimlessly about, but there was ever that awful sense of all being an illusion. I fancied I must be mad, and I feared the sound of my own voice."

"It was a perfect day, still and balmy, the air being heavy with the fragrance of the roses, but to me it seemed endless. Still, it came to a close at last. In the gloaming Harborton bade mother farewell. She blessed him as they parted, I standing dumbly by, and he, holding her hand, said gently, with his old, soft drawl, 'I shall return soon.'"

"Harborton went as he came, through the byways carpeted with moss and overhung with brier roses, still holding no speech with me, who followed dog-like. Midway down the lane the evening haze caught radiance from a shaft of the sunset, and into the glory of it he passed alone. For a moment I dared not enter. When I did, he was gone."

"Well, in a short time I was able to laugh at the occurrence as absurd. Mother seemed to feel happy in some sort of delusion. I didn't care to ridicule. She never asked me to send for Harborton again. She always said, 'When it is time, he will come.' 'She got more fragile daily. One night she looked so ethereal that, fearing to leave her, I sent the nurse to bed and staid in her room. All was hushed, and I must have dozed off, to be roused by mother's voice saying gladly: 'Oh, you have come for me! That is so good of you!'"

"The light of the harvest moon filled the room, eclipsing the feeble glow of the night light."

"Mother had raised herself to a sitting position and was looking up eagerly, joyfully, her thin hands extended. Bending over her, I saw distinctly the figure of Harborton. Starting forward, I rushed toward her, but before I could reach her side she sank back inert. Harborton had vanished, and the moonlight revealed only her dead face lying peacefully smiling on the pillows."

"That's a lot of years ago now, but I've never been able to reduce it to common sense. Can you, old chap?"—Black and White.

Crystal Sky Columns.

An explanation of a curious optical phenomenon sometimes witnessed on frosty nights which is called the "pseudo aurora," is offered in Science by Mr. Goodie of the Chicago university. The phenomenon takes the form of beautiful columns of silvery light standing over electric arc lamps and other bright lights and sometimes appearing almost to reach the zenith. Mr. Goodie says that sometimes the evening star has a bright shaft below as well as above, while the rising moon stands in a broad column of light. These appearances are due to floating frost crystals which keep their reflecting faces horizontal. On examination he found that the crystals concerned in the exhibition were thin six sided plates of ice, never more than one millimeter in diameter. When the wind blows, these little plates are upset, and the columns of light, caused by reflection from their surfaces, disappear."

A Pin in His Heart.

The old time idea that the slightest touch of a foreign substance on the heart means certain death was shattered years ago. One of the most remarkable cases ever heard of, however, was that described in a paper read before the Association of American Physicians some years ago by Dr. Peabody. It was of a case where a pin was found in a human heart after having been there for an indefinite period. The point of the pin was distant above five millimeters from the external surface of the heart. The pin seemed eroded and was broken by the scissors in dissection, without becoming displaced. There was no evidence of recent local inflammation, but that part of the heart in the neighborhood of the protruding head of the pin was greatly thickened and snow white and firmly adherent to the edge of the heart."

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register: "Mr. James Rowland of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good. The 25 and 50 cent for sale at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, Cor. Main and Milwaukee."

That is what Edwards & Parker, merchants on Platte, Ga., say of Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, deep seated and muscular pains. Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee."

Rock County Fruit.

Avoid disappointment in small fruit raising by taking varieties grown in soil and climate similar to your own. Illinois, Michigan and New York varieties seldom give the best results here for the first two seasons. Try stock grown in Rock County.
